"BIG TOPS" ARE UP

And the Stage Is Nearly All Set For the Elks' Circus On Willow Street and Broadway.

The difficult feat of getting a real circus atmosphere under the big tent which has been erected at the corner of Broadway and Willow streets has been achieved. The Elks Circus and Old Home Week will start with a grand hurrah Monday night, and continue for the entire week.

The press agent vows that the interior of the tent has been completely transformed into a dream-land, and that, except for the elephants and the crowd, under foot, the circus atmosphere has been imported intact. The typical circus "atmosphere" of the tent on a hot afternoon is entirely absent.

One of the best examples of the "atmosphere" of the circus is the history of the State of Maine. Another story in this paper tells all about it and the life of March. A. C. Jones, boss of the floor committee, promises there will be plenty of entertainment of one kind and another between the opening of the doors and the starting of the main show on Thursday.

Judging from the heavy advance sale of tickets, it will literally be a case of "go early to avoid the rush" at the opening of the Elks' Circus. There will be two performances every night, so there will be plenty of Marshall of Thomaston made this picture which shows Hon. John W. Davis, Democratic nominee for President, standing in the receiving line at the foot of the Court House steps Wednesday afternoon. On his right is Mrs. Davis, and on his left are Mrs. Charles A. Croighton of Thomaston, who was a delegate to the Democratic National Convention; and Mrs. Charles W. Richardson, whose husband is the Knox county member of the Democratic State committee. In the group at the top of the steps are several gentlemen well known in Knox county's political affairs—including Col. William P. Huxley, who trotted out his white duck trousers in honor of the West Virginian's visit; Arthur O. Patterson, who is trying to swap the county commissionership for the sheriff's billet; Register of Deeds Albertus W. Clark, whose worries are not confined to the present election; and Deputy Sheriff C. E. Harrington, who doesn't want the Court House natatoriums tread upon, regardless of who is elected President; and Clerk of Courts Milton M. Griffin, who is interested in what's going on outside of the Court House as well as in it.

STEAMSHIP WHARF BURNED

The Eastern Loses Its Valuable Property At Camden—Transfer To Be Made From Rockland.

The Eastern Steamship wharf at Camden and series of buildings thereon were destroyed this morning by fire which started about 2:30 o'clock from unknown causes. There was no fire in the building when it was closed at 7 o'clock for the night. A cigarette carelessly thrown by some loungers on the outside, or possibly defective wiring, may have been the cause of the conflagration.

The building which was erected in 1891, with an addition in 1898, contained the offices, waiting room and freight and baggage accommodations. The freight which was destroyed in this morning's fire consisted mainly of wool manufactured by the driveway leading to the wharf. The slip gears were put out of commission, and the tops of the spilling were burned. The company has no spilling on hand, which will necessitate the drafting of new supplies from the virgin forest.

The total loss is roughly estimated at $25,000 and is probably covered by the corporation's insurance.

The Camden agent, Levi J. Brown, and his assistant, Frances McGrath, came immediately to Rockland, and assisted Agent R. S. Sherman in handling the Camden end of the Boston boat's big passenger list and freight. There were 30 passengers for Camden and these, with freight, were promptly transferred to the wharf at Rockland.

This arrangement was made by the structure.

All that survived the fire was the structure.

CAR INSURANCE

Maine Automobile Association Is Considering Several New Plans.

A "one hundred per cent meeting" of the Maine Automobile Association in Portland Tuesday did not prove to be quite so big as that. About a dozen of the directors met and talked plans for the betterment of the affairs of the association. What is needed is more membership. It now is running around 2,000. It ought to be 10,000 if Maine automobilists are to benefit the State and look after their own interests as such.

The session voted to offer a form of car insurance to the members in such a way that it will save 20 per cent of the premium cost to the members. The Company offering this is a Mutual Company of New Jersey and its standing was looked up and vouched for by A. Q. Miller of Auburn, one of the directors of the Maine Automobile Association.

Mr. Miller said that the objection to offering insurance is that it is not favorably regarded by insurance agents who are doing business; but that so far as he was concerned he would not say that the Association should disregard its opportunities for that reason. He thought it would be a great attraction for membership and a good selling point. It was voted to make the connection and authorize the Secretary to sign the papers constituting the Association as agent.

Perley F. Ripley of South Paris, spoke about a plan of offering to members the coupon books along with their memberships, 500 gallons of gasoline—that average consumption per car, which coupons would be good for a 2 cent reduction in the price of gasoline at any station of the company, making this arrangement. The association could absorb the cost in certain ways and it would be a great inducement to membership. No action was taken but the matter is yet under consideration.

The treasurer made a report. One of the topics discussed was the cost of the magazine. The Maine Motorist, which is being published by the Association and which is a part of the benefits received by members of the Association along with their membership. The cost of the magazine to date has been about $3900 and the receipts about $1900—not inclusive of the last issue, in either case. Efforts are to be made to reduce the cost and increase the revenue.

ST. GEORGE SMILES

And Why Shouldn't It With Nearly 500 Granite Workers Busy There?

From St. George comes the welcome word that the granite plants of Long Cove, Clark Island and Willardham are giving employment this summer to 250 paving cutters, or about 450 men all told. The work will last through the entire season. The men are earning satisfactory wages, and St. George is one Maine town where the plaint of hard times does not penetrate.

The paving blocks are shipped to New York and Philadelphia, and are of such a superior quality that the residents of those two cities ought to be proud to walk on them.

With Vinalhaven's granite industry also booming Knox County is feeling tolerably well, thank you.

SANK THE ENTERPRISE

And a Libel Suit Has Been Brought Against Norwegian Steamer Which Did It.

As an aftermath of the ramming of the schooner Enterprise of Dover in Portland Harbor about two weeks ago by the Norwegian steamer Gunner, a libel for damages in the amount of $15,000 was placed against the steamer.

The collision occurred in the ship channel opposite No. 6 Grand Trunk wharf, the Enterprise sinking. She was quickly raised, however, and towed to the wharf of the Portland Harbort.

The Gunner Helberg reached port again Thursday from Murray, Cape Breton.

THE OLD RIVER

When night drops down over field and town
At the end of the weary day,
And dream of a rippling stream,
And many a mile away
I sit and dream of a rippling stream,
Of the old and the quiet flow:
Of the roads in rural life, the ware-shops
And hills that bud and blow.

From her mud-built nest in a cranny
The swallows swoop and dash and
Averre a dart and with joyous heart
She shakes the spray from her side.
The red sun shines through the needed yams,
And low on the watery floor,
A path of red for fairy's tread
Lies stretched to the farther shore.

The swimmers cry as they climb on high
To the rock of the silver shade,
Till, one by one, in the setting sun,
They pause with their outstretched arms.
They pause—they leap from the rocky shore
Where the evening air blows cool,
And the bodies flash as the brown
splash
In the depths of the quiet pool.

Though, now, mayhap, in the river's bed
There grow but the waving reeds,
And the water's flow through the hills,
Is lost in the tangled weeds:
Yet, when night drops down over field and town,
At the end of the weary day,
I sit and dream of a rippling stream,
Of the old and the quiet flow.

At the end of the weary day,
I sit and dream of a rippling stream,
Of the old and the quiet flow.

At the end of the weary day,
I sit and dream of a rippling stream,
Of the old and the quiet flow.

At the end of the weary day,
I sit and dream of a rippling stream,
Of the old and the quiet flow.

Show but steady is the increase in Lewiston's population according to recent figures sent out by the Bureau of the Census, which show that the Spindle City has gained 2500 inhabitants in the past four years. The city's population is now 34,361, and the extent to which building operations are progressing indicate that Lewiston is not expecting a halt in its growth. Not quite so happy is Bangor whose population of 26,523 shows an increase of only 545 in four years. Rockland's statistics are not at hand, but it is safe to say that there has been no material change. If the new time and cement industry develops according to the optimistic view now entertained this city ought to approximate the 10,000 mark before many years have elapsed.

The gorgeous sunset of Thursday marked the ending of one of those summer days in which this part of Maine outshines the famed regions of the earth over which travelers are wont to express their raptures. When the sun dropped down, trailing clouds of glory.

The marvelous coloring, long sustained in the western heavens, communicating its incomparable tints to the distant clouds and reflected in the still waters of the harbor, yielded a delight to the observer the measure of which one finds it difficult to express in words.

A discovery of interest particularly to New Englanders has just been made by Mrs. Mary Spencer Paine of Saginaw, Mich. According to the Michigan Christian Advocate, a copy of which has been handed to The Courier-Gazette by R. R. Ludwig of Oliver street, Mrs. Paine, who is collecting data for a genealogical volume has found that 147 years ago ancestors of Calvin Coolidge and Charles G. Dawes were in the grocery business together at Worcester, Mass., under the firm name of "Dawes & Coolidge." It is also asserted that the two families intermarried.

How many young men whose eyes may fall upon this paragraph are beginning their careers by taking out a life insurance policy? Besides furnishing protection during his early years of production, a policy written with a properly conducted company becomes a form of saving which after a term of years may be drawn upon, perhaps at a time when such form of financial support is earnestly to be desired. The young man who takes out his first policy, and every time he makes an upward step takes out another one, is on the road to a sound prosperity.

The recent report that the Maine Central Railroad was to curtail its passenger service created the natural impression that the summer tourist business is off this season. But according to a Bath report the travel over the State ferry is larger than last year. The summer has already furnished two days which beat the record of any previous year.

The prolonged drouth sounds a warning to be careful about fires. A match dropped or a cigaret stub carelessly flung away may touch off a blaze that will do vast damage to wooded sections. There is a great amount of this exposed property in Knox County. Have a care.

Old Home Week has a pleasant sound and The Courier-Gazette hopes the days from Monday onward that are dedicated to the occasion may see large numbers of visitors shaking hands with old-time Rockland friends and renewing acquaintance with old familiar scenes.

In certain sections of Massachusetts and Connecticut they are praying for rain to break the eight weeks drouth. Why not hire the Rockland ball team? It has brought rain on more than half of the dates when games were to be played.

Kissing the Blarneystone has again become popular with American tourists in Ireland. This pastime is going to be much indulged in between now and the first Tuesday of November and it isn't all going to be done in Ireland either.

"The Evil Shepherd," whose opening chapters are printed upon another page, is recommended to readers of The Courier-Gazette who enjoy reading a story of intrigue and mystery—real Oppenheim.

A DECISION SOON

It Is Claimed That Recount, With Court Decision, Shows Brewster Nominated.

Although no decision will be rendered for several days, the friends of Ralph O. Brewster of Portland, defeated candidate for the nomination for Governor in the recent Republican primary, declared that the findings of the Supreme Court rendered Thursday in the matter of disputed ballots and alleged irregularities in the conduct of the election will insure his nomination. The certificate of nomination for Governor was given to Frank G. Farrington of Augusta, the official vote giving him a margin of 320.

Senator Brewster, commenting very briefly on the court's decision this afternoon, expressed his pleasure that his contention for an investigation in Ward Four, Portland, and for throwing out the votes in the town of St. Agatha, where he alleged booths were not used, were sustained by the court. These two places together, he said, represent a total of about 750 votes.

The opinion of the court was virtually unanimous, except with reference to the power and duty of the Governor and Council to investigate alleged fraud in Ward Four, Portland. Chief Justice Cornish, Justices Dunn, Deasy and Philbrook held that the Governor and Council have power to do everything in this respect that a court could do, except to punish for contempt. Justices Wilson, Sturgis and Barnes held that the Governor and Council have no power; that they only can deal with the returns. Justice Morrill was absent.

In substance, the answers of the court to the questions submitted by the Governor and Council are as follows:

Regarding cases when voting booths were not used, the court says that the use of booths is mandatory and if not used, all ballots of such precincts should be thrown out. It must be proved, however, that there were no booths used. The court is not quite clear as to what would happen if booths were provided but not used, in whole or in part. Regarding the use of the ballots themselves, the court's decision is strict. It is ruled that a fac-simile signature of the Secretary of State is an absolute pre-requisite to the legality of the ballot. All home-made ballots, whether authorized by phone by the Secretary of State or not, typewritten or other irregular ballots, are thrown out; all Democratic ballots used as Republican ballots, all "specimen" ballots and "lists of candidates" are thrown out.

Where the ballots of one town were transferred to and used in another, they are declared to be good if the transfer and use were authorized by the Secretary of State, but only when so authorized.

Absent voting ballots not used as such, but used on election day as ordinary ballots, are good only if the use was authorized by the Secretary of State.

Ballots sent by the State to the wrong town are good if their use was authorized by the Secretary of State. As ballots marked "spoiled," "void," or "canceled," must be investigated, and the facts obtained in each case, declares the Court. As to markings on ballots: There must be a cross; all check marks, the use of a "T" or "Y" are forbidden, but if there is a cross, even though a double cross, and a regular one or one with added line, the ballot is good. Three classes of markings were left to the decision of the Governor and Council, and they today have passed upon them and decided to count all three classes as good. They are: First, a cross at the right of the candidate's name, but not in the square; second, a cross in the blank block over Mr. Brewster's name; third, a cross in the blank block under Mr. Farrington's name.

In answer to the supplementary question submitted by the Governor and Council as to whether illegal ballots if any are found, shall be counted for candidates other than Governor, the Court has ruled that candidates who did not file claims for recount within ten days allowed by statutes have lost their right, and that the ballots will stand as legal for such candidates, even though classed as illegal in the vote for Governor.

FOUR TERMS EXPIRE

Next Governor of Maine Will Have Half of Supreme Court Justices To Appoint.

Four of the eight Justices of the Supreme Court of Maine, whose terms expire during 1925 will be subject to reappointment or to replacement by the Governor. The Justice whose term expires, are: Justice Charles J. Dunn of Orono, Feb. 6, 1925; Justice John A. Morrill of Auburn, March 15, 1925; Justice Scott Wilson of Portland, Aug. 7, 1925; and Justice Luere B. Deasy, of Bar Harbor, Sept. 25, 1925.

There are only two incidents of recent years where a Governor has failed to reappoint a Justice to the Supreme Court upon the expiration of his term. One was the case of Justice Enoch Foster of Bethel, who in 1897 after serving 14 years was not reappointed and Justice Albert M. Spear of Gardiner, head of the Masonic body in Maine, whom the late Gov. Curtis failed to re-appoint, but who was later re-appointed to the bench by Governor Milliken, as a retired Justice.

NOT FUNNY TO THE CLOWNS

Detroit Outfit Failed To Score In Last Night's Game—Hazzards Playing In Camden Today.

I SAW NED MAY at last night's game on the Broadway Field, and he appeared to be deriving as much amusement from the side remarks as he was from the antics of the Clowns. The humorous side is strong with this capable member of the Post Office staff, and having been friends from boyhood I could give some very striking instances of his faculty for fun-making. He never played baseball, but in his day as a roller polo player he was a star goal tend, and kept the referee busy as well as his opponents.—The Sporting Editor.

Rockland 6, Clowns 0
The Detroit Clowns discarded their circus garb in the 6th inning last night, but the tide of victory had set in too strongly for Rockland's crack team.
The largest crowd of the season witnessed the one-sided contest, and derived considerable amusement from the antics of the visitors, but as far as real baseball was concerned the game was not in a class with the Lockland-Camden or Rockland-Westbrook games. It is only fair to the visitors to say that they had traveled from Calais since morning and had only nine hours sleep in three days. Prior to the game a quartet of Clowns regaled the stands with a popular selection.

Kenney, the first baseman was the star comedian. When a ground ball took a bad bound and went high over his head, he promptly flattened himself upon the earth until he found the offending article, which he buried beyond the base line.
The game had another unusual interruption when one of the Clowns ran into the diamond and insisted upon examining pitcher Foster's person for the wax or resin which he is alleged to use. One of Foster's hip pockets revealed some object, with which the Detroit man departed in a line of gloom.
The game was really all over in the third inning when an error by Birnie and singles by Oney, Gregory and Pelley netted two runs.
A single by Mealey, doubles by Oney and Gregory, a triple by Dimick and a home run by W. Foster summarized the bombardment of the 5th inning, netting Rockland four runs.
The Clowns could do nothing with

The Hazzards of Gardiner and Camden are playing their rubber game in Camden at 3 o'clock this afternoon. It is the only game in Knox county today.

The attention of the Lewiston Sun sporting writer who slammed Rising the other day because he was knocked out of the box is respectfully directed to the following clipping from Wednesday's Bangor News:

"With Elmer Rising pitching gilt edged ball and leading the batting attack with three hits out of four times at bat, the Easterns had little trouble in taking the second game, 11 to 1. It was a big day for the Rockland phenom who looked like a veteran on the mound."

"Farmington scored its only run in the first. Brosnan, the lead off man, hit to right field for two bases. Tierney sacrificed him to third. Lynch making play unassisted, Masland singled to center, scoring Brosnan. The next two batters were easy outs. The visitors got another man on first in the third, when Brosnan singled. His second hit. Two foul flies gathered in by Feeley ended the inning. Feeley caught two foul flies in the second inning. It was classy work by the Eastern backstop."

"Rising was keeping the hits well scattered, and a single in the fourth with one down, another in the seventh with two down, and a double in the ninth with one down, all were wasted, for the boy pitcher did his stuff and there was no scoring."

North Wayne Sentinel—The greatest strides in the perfection of American prosperity have come under Republican Administrations—naturally so, for only Republican Administrations have adopted policies of tariff protection which is indispensable in the maintenance of American standards of living.

Waldoboro with its street carnival, continues to be the center of attraction.

Miss Florence Arnold has resigned her position at the Maine Music Co., and returned to Portland.

J. H. Simonton "The Vinegar Man," has bought the cider mill and vinegar machinery of Black & Gay, at Union.

The family of Abraham Aylward has moved to Camden, where Mr. Aylward is employed as linotype operator at the Herald Office.

Members of Knox Lodge, I.O.O.F., and Rebekahs will meet at their hall at 6.30 p. m. Thursday Aug 7 to attend the Elks Circus in a body.

Today is the first anniversary of President Harding's death. A short period, but much of importance has happened since that lamentable event.

There will be a special meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Church following the prayer meeting Tuesday night. Important business.

To help defray the expenses of the Methodist choir's annual vacation at Northport is the object of the concert which the choir will give next Monday evening at 8.15. Under the leadership of Mrs. Nellie Howard the choir is giving most excellent satisfaction, and one way that the public may show its appreciation is to attend this concert.

If the scales are right at the Maine Central station candidate John W. Davis gained from three to four pounds during his vacation in Maine. The arrow pointed to 172 after he had mounted the weighing machine and dropped in the customary copper. Question is, how much would he have lost if he had written that acceptance speech in New York.

The grade of Lime street is being established and suitable drainage provided. Cement curbing will be laid, and for the present a cinder walk will be built. Coincident with these improvements a new cement foundation is being built for the eastern end of the Livingston Manufacturing Co.'s building. The highway will have a crushed rock surface.

Beginning Aug. 5 Mrs. Eleanor Cote Howard of Rockland will devote her entire time to organizing among the French speaking women. She will commence her work in Franklin county on that date and will go into all the French speaking sections of cities and towns throughout the State. In addition to her work, women workers are to be sent out in every county to supplement existing organization activities and their expenses are to be borne by the Democratic Women's Federation of Clubs. One other thing which the Federation hopes to do is to get out some campaign literature for the women relative to conditions in this state, as they see them.

The heavy iron girders on which the roof of the old High School building is to rest are in place. The roof will be slated for a portion of the distance above the eaves, and the remainder will be glassed, in order to furnish light for the auditorium.

The old junk shop opposite the foot of Summer street has been raised to the ground, with nobody to mourn its demise. And when Neighbor Ricknell has erected his proposed new block another notable improvement will have been chronicled at The Brook.

News was received by Rev. Fr. James A. Flynn Thursday of the death of E. A. Russell of Attleboro, Mass., a former well known resident of Vinalhaven. Funeral services were held at St. Bernard's church this morning. Interment was in Thomaston.

Aug. 18 will be known as "Rising Day" at the Broadway Field. The Easterns of South Brewer are playing here then, and Elmer Rising one of the Easterns star twirlers will be in the box for that team. Steamer Castine is to bring a big excursion from up-river, and 40 taxis have already been engaged.

Many strings were pulled to get a warship here for Old Home Week, but none of them seemed to work until Senator Bert M. Fernald's efforts were solicited. They came prompt word to Fred C. Black of the local committee that the new scout cruiser Concord would be sent here. This warship is a brand new craft, of the latest type, and carries about 600 men. Senator Fernald's efforts are highly appreciated by the committee, as they doubtless will be by the public.

Erick Harjula of the Georges River road suspended having operations yesterday long enough to telephone The Courier-Gazette and invite the city folks to come down and see the biggest crop he has ever harvested. The handsome fields for which his farm is famous were laid flat Thursday and today will see most of the hay under cover. Mr. Harjula raised about 25 tons this year, and the quality is so choice that his cows give cream when they look at the haystacks. Mingled with his satisfaction, however, is the regret which he feels at having recently lost a horse valued at $250. The animal got caught in a barbed wire fence in the pasture, and was so badly injured that the owner had to put him out of his misery. Mr. Harjula replaced the home from George M. Simmons' stock.

After the Elks Circus and Rockland's Old Home Week comes Thomaston's famous County Fair and Old Home Gathering on Aug. 20. The line signs at either end of the Mall which are the work of Walter Andrews, formerly of Thomaston, tell the story.

Bath Times: Rockland's principal industry, the lime and cement business, seems destined to become of even greater magnitude and importance than ever before, judging from recent developments there. Maine cities will congratulate their sister city on her good fortune and hope that the outcome will be as bright as now seems in prospect. Any community in the state which shows signs of increasing industrial prosperity receives the good wishes of its neighbors and what helps one part of the state helps all.

The concrete headers for the new iron culvert in the brook to the southward of the High School building are being constructed. The space between the culvert and the schoolhouse has been filled to a depth of nine feet or more giving much additional playground. The acquisition of waste land to the westward of the schoolhouse and similar treatment would give the new High School building a larger playground than the old one had, and it is believed that it could be done at comparatively small expense. It is known that Mayor Snow has the matter under consideration, and that he will welcome suggestions.

The Methodist Ladies will serve a public dinner at the church Thursday, price 50 cents.—adv.

Owing to an increase in business in Camden, City Engineer L. D. Jones has decided to open an office there one day a week. Mr. Jones has recently completed the construction of a modern tea room on Camden street, opposite the Samoset waiting room, for Donohue & Simmons. It will be opened to the public today. Street Commissioner Gardner and Mr. Jones with a crew of men are installing a new system of sewage for the Livingston Manufacturing Co. on Lime street, before the new street is laid.

The organ recital at the First Baptist church at 7.15 o'clock Sunday evening will introduce a Thomaston musician to a Rockland audience—Miss Alcada Hall, who graduated in June from Coburn Classical Institute, following two years' study of organ and piano under the directorship of Carl Jean Tolman, filling meantime the position of church organist in Fairfield. Miss Hall is now organist of the Thomaston Congregational church and her playing is highly spoken of. The recital program is printed in another column.

The Courier-Gazette has been handed a little folder, considerably discolored by age directing attention to prize declamations which were to be given by members of Rockland High School Nov. 26, 1879. And this was the program: "Opposition to Independence," Lewis W. Howes; "True Reformers," John Otis; "Extract from Winthrop," Charles C. Achorn; "Unjust National Acquisitions," Nathan F. Cobb; "The Fall of Poland," Franklin D. Fales; "Extract from Elliott," Fred F. Staples; "American Battle Flags," Arthur W. Gay; "South Carolina and Massachusetts," Arthur W. Hall; "The Fireman," Seth P. Lovejoy; "Eulogy of Washington," Walter V. Wentworth; "Glorious New England," Justin O. Young; "Bingen on the Rhine," Edward B. Burpee; "Eulogy of Summer," Harry O. Gurdy. The committee of award comprised Rev. William T. Stowe, Rev. J. J. Blair and T. H. McLain. The writer delved vainly into The Gazette files to learn the outcome of the contest, but the newsmongers of that day were less assiduous, and no mention is made of what must have been a very interesting event. But "Bingen on the Rhine!" Ye gods!

Please bear in mind the concert given by the Methodist choir on Monday evening at 8.15. The members are working hard to make this a success, the proceeds are to defray the expenses of a well earned vacation of two weeks at Northport, also for the pledge on the church budget. Tickets are 50 cents and may be procured from any member of the choir, at J. F. Gregory's or from Mrs. Harrington at W. O. Hewett's. The one way to show your appreciation of the work done by the choir is to buy a ticket. Thank you.—adv.

For preserving use Queen Glass Jars. Pints $1.50; quarts $1.75 per dozen at Gonias.—adv. 85-1f

NOTED VOCALIST HERE

Paul Draper, Known To Music Circles of Two Continents, Will Sing at Rubenstein Recital.

Passing through the city yesterday, on his way to Dark Harbor, was a modest appearing young man who has been prominently identified with the musical affairs of two continents. Paul Draper claims New York City as his residence, but his ancestors were among the pioneer residents of Islesboro, and there his youth was spent. A voice of great promise was cultivated by 12 years' study in Europe, and has more than justified the opinion which eminent instructors had formed. Today Paul Draper looms equally large on the musical horizon of New York and London, and he can lay claim to intimate association with the most distinguished vocalists of America and Europe.

He is also entitled to a feeling of pride when he claims kinship as the sister of Miss Ruth Draper, the monologist, who has several times appeared at the Samoset and who has entertained royalty in foreign countries.

In Florence Mr. Draper studied two years with Lombardi. He also studied five years each in Munich and England. Singing with such famous organizations as the Berlin Philharmonic, London Symphony, Boston Symphony, Chicago Symphony and Philadelphia Symphony and as soloist at many concerts in New York and other large musical centers it is not surprising that he has achieved fame in the world of music while still a comparatively young man.

Last year he organized and directed a quartet, comprising in addition to himself Mme. Rethberg, first soprano of the Metropolitan Orchestra; Mme. Cahier of Vienna opera; and Paul Bender, leading bass of the Metropolitan Orchestra. Mr. Draper is classed as a high baritone. This quartet sang at concerts, social functions and private residences.

To his house in London came famous musicians. "I often recall evenings," he told a Courier-Gazette reporter, "when Kreisler, Bauer, Casals, Paderewski and Syzay all came, and played chamber music. Oh, those were happy days—tornadoes of happiness, I might say. We used to play and sing until 6 and 7 o'clock in the morning, and perhaps the neighbors wondered what was up."

"Casals, who is a world famous 'cellist, could also play a very fair game of tennis, and we had matches almost daily in London."

But into the midst of this harmony came the discord of grim war. The information that he was in London from Mr. Draper that he was in the service 23 months—first in the American Ambulance Corps, and then as an enlisted man in the 9th U. S. Infantry, Second Division. With this latter unit Mr. Draper went into the trenches of the Verdun sector. Thirteen months after his enlistment he was commissioned a second lieutenant, and became attached to the Liaison service. In addition to being under fire he fulfilled another important mission, that of singing to wounded comrades in the hospitals. The invalids were enthusiastic all ways.

Mr. Draper paid another visit to Europe this year, but found the English less devoted to music than usual, and three weeks ago he came back home.

He plans to spend a week in Islesboro, where, by the way, his mother's cottage is now under lease to Frank L. Polk, former under Secretary of State, and law partner of John W. Davis. He will be on this coast during August, visiting also Bar Harbor and Northeast Harbor.

"I consider Dark Harbor the most beautiful spot in the world," said Mr. Draper, and I know of nothing I like better than to sit on my piazza at sunset and see the light strike the Camden hills."

Mr. Draper has graciously consented to sing at the Rubenstein Club recital in the Congregational Church Monday, Aug. 11 and it bids fair to be an event of marked importance.

The Parent-Teacher Association is to run an ice cream, candy and brownie booth during the week of the Elks Circus on the lawn of Mrs. George Stewart, Willow street, near the big top. The object of the efforts of this devoted band of women is to equip the gymnasium of the new High School. They have already made a good start through the season sale of refreshments at Broadway Field. Any person wishing to contribute cake or brownies should notify Mrs. John H. Flanagan, telephone 842.

The Parent-Teacher Association will sell cake, brownies and candy on Mrs. George Stewart's lawn during the Elks Circus Week. All friends of the Association and the new High School who can contribute food or candy for the sale notify Mrs. John H. Flanagan, Tel. 842. 93-94

Fred Brown and Russell Greeley of The Meadows are on deck this morning but that is about all. They were bound for Rockland for the Greeley truck loaded with garden produce when it turned turtle near Kim Hill. I. Newton Morgan and his husky mate were close by in a Central Ice Co. machine and rushed to the rescue expecting the worst but the imprisoned men were released unharmed except for minor cuts. The load however was pretty thoroughly scattered.

THOMASTON

Mrs. E. K. Winchenbach is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Howard Smalley of Worcester, Mass.

The annual meeting of the Baptist Society will be held at the vestry next Monday night at 7:30 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace E. Mason and son of Keene, N. H., have been spending several days with relatives in Thomaston and Rockland.

Barbara, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Gilchrist, celebrated her third birthday Monday by giving a party to a number of her young friends. The occasion will long be remembered by the children from a delightful ride to South Pond. The guests so much enjoyed the ice cream, fancy crackers, candy and a real birthday cake with its three candles. Miss Barbara was remembered with many presents. Those who made up the company were: Lona, Richard and Elizabeth Woodcock, Russell Young, Winona and Abbie Watts, Howland and Junior Maxey, Florence Tuttle, Lloyd Bockett, the two latter as assistants to Miss Gilchrist in entertaining.

Capt. and Mrs. Ernest Montgomery and daughter Teresa motored to Bremen Thursday.

Mrs. Walter Moran, daughter Eleanor and son Leland are spending a few days on Matineux.

Mrs. Lovely R. Bumpus was the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Edward Brown, Friday.

Ralph Cushing will leave Sunday for his home in Chicago.

E. P. Harriman, aged 92 years and his son, L. F. Harriman were overnight guests Wednesday of Mr. and Mrs. William Newbert.

Frank Morrow of Camden was in town Friday on business.

Mrs. Charles Starrett, Mrs. Dora Kellogg, Miss Jennie Moody and Miss Elizabeth Washburn will have charge of the fancy table at the Baptist fair Tuesday.

Rodney Crouse came Thursday from Chatham, N. H., and will spend two weeks vacation with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Crouse.

William G. Washburn has sold to Gilbert Horsely land adjoining his lot on the western side. It was formerly a field but for a number of years was used as sort of a shipyard by Samuel Watts & Co.

Mrs. Louise Plott and Mrs. Edith Winchenbach and two friends of Framingham, Mass., were visitors of Mrs. Mark Crouse Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Miles Watts who came from Haverhill, Mass., to attend the funeral of Mrs. Watt's sister, Mrs. Schwartz, have returned home.

Mrs. James MacLaughlin has recovered from an attack of the grippe.

Mrs. J. B. Brooks and daughter Ruth of Pittsburg, Pa., have been visiting with Mrs. Levi Seavey this week.

Miss Clara Morton is quite ill at her home on Main street.

John Sine is having the land on the eastern side of his house graded. It will make a fine looking lawn.

Mrs. Richard E. Dunn will entertain the Ladies Circle of the Congregational church at the Dunn farm, Cushing, Aug. 5. Please take dishes.

Miss Evelyn Young will arrive Monday from Albion, Mass.

Mrs. Albert Rice of Framingham, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Mark Crouse, has gone home.

Her daughters Thelma and Virginia will spend the month of August with their grandmother.

Walter Barschdorff of Lisbon and Frederick Schotte of Lewiston Metal Works have finished work at the prison and gone home.

Mrs. J. B. Brooks and daughter Ruth of Pittsburg, have been visitors of Mrs. Levi Seavey this week.

The Congregational meeting house will soon appear in a new coat of paint. Capt. Caleb Gilchrist, a veteran of 80 years, will have charge of the work.

Rev. A. B. Clark will preach at the Baptist church Sunday as a candidate. It is hoped there will be a large attendance of the church folk. The Lord's supper will be celebrated.

Miss Frances A. Shaw is leaving today for Douglas Hill, where she will spend a week of vacation at the Douglas Hill Inn. Her place in the Thomaston National Bank will be taken by Miss Jennie Rider.

Neat County Fair signs are being displayed at each end of the mail. They were made by Walter Andrews of Framingham, Mass.

Miss Margaret McDonald is in Portland.

Miss Letitia Creighton is in Pittsfield, Mass.

Mrs. William Gilchrist and children, Mrs. Minnie Beckett and son and Mrs. Addie Jones were dinner guests of Mrs. Byron Combs at Stone's Point recently.

The parking of cars on the side of the street is agitating the minds of some of the citizens at the west end. The town fathers are reported to have ruled that the town has no authority over that section of Main street as it is a State Highway and the traffic officer should be called upon.

Mrs. Alarie Stone of Boston will be the soloist at the Congregational church Sunday morning.

Mrs. Jennie Benner returned Wednesday from Jefferson where she spent two weeks with Mrs. Mattie Weeks and her father who is 90 years old. He milks his cow and reads his paper every day.

The Ladies Aid of the Methodist Episcopal church will hold an outdoor sale on Margaret Crandon's lawn, Aug. 27.

Services at St. John the Baptist church, Episcopal will be holy communion at 8 a. m. and eucharist and sermon at 7:30 p. m.

The tax collector of Thomaston will be at the selectmen's office Tuesday evening until further notice to receive taxes for 1924.

THOMAS BUNKER

Thomaston lost a well known citizen last Tuesday night with the death of Thomas Bunker of Beechwoods street. The funeral services were held yesterday afternoon, Rev. P. J. Clifford officiating. The bearers were Alexander Mayo, Albert Hall, Angus McDonald and Charles McDonald. Beautiful floral pieces were massed about the casket, and many neighbors and old time friends were present to pay their last respects to one whose presence on earth had meant so much to them.

Mr. Bunker had been ailing for some months from heart trouble, but the end came swiftly. The deceased was born in Rockland, July 14, 1853 and had been associated in recent years with the late James Overlook, carrying on an extensive lumber business. He had not sought public office, and was a member of no fraternity, but in his daily walks of life his neighbors found increasing admiration for the qualities which he possessed—the qualities that go to make up sterling citizenship. While he was not associated with any church, he was a Christian in the truest sense of the word—always the first to extend a helping hand. In appreciation of this his neighbors were extremely kind and thoughtful during his illness, supplementing the care and affection given by the members of his own family. His home was to him the nearest that one comes to paradise on this earth.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Robinson and daughter, Mrs. M. and Mrs. Raymond Anderson and son, Richard, returned Sunday guests of Mrs. E. T. Peterson and her daughter Rachel Warren. They had the pleasure of seeing Miss Emerson sing a group of Italian songs. One very interesting bit of entertainment was "Bubbi" happens to be a canary brought in Italy and presented to Miss Emerson by the chief officer of the liner on her return to this country from her recent studies abroad. When let out of his cage he flew to the top of the cage and sang "Bubbi" which he does as clear as a bird can. When told that he flew about he does have a gay way. He will follow his mistress into the room and leaves her only when he happens to see the sun shining on the floor. Then he finds shadow and tries to pick a scrap of the other fellow. The Emersons had some distinguished guests late including Mrs. C. W. Krogan, greatest American composer in her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Sweet of Marblehead and her son H. W. Krogan, gold Durant who has been touring country with Gadsby, Sembrich LaForge was there recently. As Emerson now has Miss Alice Hill, a cousin of Mr. LaForge, as a guest. They start in late August for New York where Miss Emerson will begin her winter's tour. Krogan has dedicated a very beautiful piece, "Home and You" to her.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Mitchell of Brooklyn are spending the week in this city, guests at Frank C. Pratt's, Elm street. Mr. Mitchell is traveling salesman for a Pittsburgh concern, but his old home was at Ingraham Hill and Rockland still looks mighty good to him. Mrs. Mitchell is a bride of a few months.

The Woman's Educational Club accepts with special pleasure invitation of Mrs. Mary Mendell to hold an afternoon picnic at her summer cottage, Ocean avenue, Ingraham's Hill. The location is ideal, next to the water, and a charming occasion is assured. All should accept. A social and literary program will be arranged, with round table on vacation experiences. Mrs. Ida Simmons, competent club chairman, plans liquid refreshments for all who take their own box luncheon. Take your fancy work or prefer to walk in a group from the Highland car line. Those who prefer to walk in a group will meet at the Hotel Rockland as near 1.30 p. m. as convenient, Aug. 6.

Many Summer Visitors
Last week's issue of the R. G. Dunn & Co., Weekly Trade Review reports the largest number of summer visitors and foreign automobiles in Maine, in the history of the state. This does not seem to coincide with the general opinion that the season is a poor one for summer resorts, and that the travel on the state highway is less than usual because out of state cars are not as plentiful, due to hard times over the country.—Bath Times.

Austin Philbrook is now holding the high number belt. He saw a New York Chevrolet with the license number of 1,976,992.

NEXT MONDAY'S PARADE

Three Big Divisions, With Four Bands and Drum Corps, Floats, Sailors, Etc.—Starts At 5:30, Daylight.

Rockland has had parades. So has every city and town in the State of Maine. But never in local history has there been such a parade as will be seen in Rockland as an introduction to the Elks Circus and Old Home Week next Monday at 5:30 p. m., daylight saving time.

Yea! By the seventy-seven sacred suns, they'll be there. All will be there from King Solomon and the Queen of Sheba to Omar the tent maker, the poet, or the snake, which you will.

It is estimated by the Elks parade committee that it will take the parade at least two hours to pass any given point. And why shouldn't it? Just think! There will be six sections, four bands, 100 floats, 500 U. S. Sailors, the National Guard units and many other features.

The parade will start at 5:30 p. m. sharp at the Gen. Berry engine house. From there it will go up Main street to Rankin, up Rankin to Union, down Union to Park, down Park to Main to Talbot, Talbot to Broadway and up Broadway to the circus grounds on Willow street and Broadway.

Following is the list of concerns which will have floats participating in the parade: V. F. Studley, Consolidated Baking Co., Dyer's Garage, Rockland Motor Mart, Rockland Coal Co., Fuller-Cobb-Davis, Burpee Furniture Co., Livingston Manufacturing Co., W. M. Little & Co., Texas Co., W. O. Hewett Co., Rockland Produce, J. A. Jameson Co., Larabee & Dodge, Sme-Hudson, Cobb's Inc., M. B. & C. O. AT WISCASSET TABERNACLE

Mrs. Lulu Loveland Shepard closed her work at the Wiscasset Tabernacle after delivering seven addresses in four days "where 1,000 people present. This section has never heard the like of Mrs. Shepard as an orator of remarkable power. She was so delighted with the people and place that she is to return as guest of the tabernacle management.

This week William W. Shannon of Philadelphia is the speaker. He has already gripped the community in his addresses, growing audiences attesting the wide-spread interest in his message.

Rev. Arthur C. Bruckman, pianist arrived from Brooklyn Tuesday. He is a master of the instrument and assists greatly in the song service.

T. Wilbur Lewton of Baltimore is assisting in the open air service. Mrs. John Robertson of Boston speaks four afternoons at 3 o'clock.

The celebrated "Church on Wheels" arrived Tuesday, and Mr. Lawton spoke to a large crowd in the square from its platform. Mr. Lawton is a very effective speaker in the open air and his address was closely listened to by the Berge Sisters, singers.

of Baltimore, arrived Friday and will remain twelve days. Wednesday the church on wheels and group of workers went to Boothbay Harbor and held a meeting. They plan to visit Rockland, Belfast and surrounding towns.

Los Angeles Times—The United States Shipping Board says that there is a British movement on foot to "force" the repeal of the coastwise laws of this country. It is evidently on the wrong foot. That thing was tried in 1812.

Mrs. George W. Smith
The death of Mrs. George W. Smith of Summer street, which was announced in Thursday's issue of this paper, came with the force of a great shock to her friends everywhere, and particularly those who were not aware that her ill health had developed into a critical stage. Medical advice had not been of a reassuring nature, but Mrs. Smith herself was possessed of wonderful courage and refused to yield to the inevitable, until about ten days ago, when she was no longer able to leave the house. She faced the end with a calm and indomitable faith.

Maudie Smith was born in Bangor, Dec. 23, 1866, the daughter of the late A. L. Simpson, who was for many years collector of customs in the Bangor District, and who lived to the advanced age of 92. Her mother was Cora Williams. Mrs. Smith graduated from Bangor High School in 1883, and continued to reside in the city of her birth until Sept. 7, 1893, when she was married to Mr. Smith. She had been regent of Lady Knox Chapter, D. A. R., president of the Rubenstein Club, president of the Shakespeare Society and member of a social organization known as the Thursday Club. During her war activities in behalf of the boys at the front, she was very patriotic and drives were very numerous, and it seemed to everybody a most fitting choice when she was made the first president of the American Legion Auxiliary.

Mrs. Smith was greatly interested in musical matters, and her ability as a pianist found expression in many local entertainments of a notable character. Almost from childhood she had been interested in the collection of autographs, and one of her valued possessions was a large album containing not only the signatures of men and women of national and international fame, but in many instances messages of a most interesting nature from their pen. Her interest also extended to numismatics, her coin collection being one of considerable value. Such interests may be regarded by some persons as a fad, unless taken seriously as was the case with Mrs. Smith. Extremely practical however was her social and charitable work, and her deeply loved domestic interests. The affection which she showed upon those nearest and dearest to her, whether members of the family or intimate friends, was reciprocated in full measure. Few persons had more loyal friends.

Mrs. Smith is survived by her husband, Mr. Malcolm S. Smith, of Pittsburgh; a daughter, Gertrude of Rockland; and a half-sister, Miss Gertrude Simpson of Bangor.

Funeral services will be held at the residence, corner of Summer and Lincoln streets, this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. John B. Pitcher officiating.

A fact you ought to consider

THE securities of Public Utility Companies are second only to national banks in freedom from failure

Statistics prove it.

The risk of receivership, according to Roger Babson, the financial statistician, per $100 of securities outstanding in the four main classes of stock are:

Industrials $2.07	Public Utilities $0.37
Railroads $1.84	National Banks $0.32

That is, there is not one-fifth the risk to the average public utility investment that there is to the average industrial investment—there is hardly more risk to public utility investments than to national bank investments.

When you invest your money consider the added safety that comes from an investment in a growing and successful power company—especially in a home power company.

Such an investment is the 7% Preferred Stock of Central Maine Power Company. It has paid dividends uninterruptedly for over 18 years—71 consecutive times. It is backed by over $32,000,000 worth of physical property—located right here in Maine. The Company is owned and managed by Maine people—it has over 11,900 Maine people as partner owners.

Is not this security the ideal investment for the conservative people of Maine?

The price is $107.50. The yield is 6 1/2% net.

SOME TALL SHOOTIN'

McLoon Breaks 49 Targets
In Succession At Oakland
Range—"Chick" Spear
Wins Double Event.

Eleven members of the Rockland Gun Club participated in Thursday afternoon's shoot at the Oakland Park range.

There were two scheduled events, the first being a 50-target added bird handicap. A. C. McLoon took high gun honors and carried home the ham. His eye was remarkably keen on this occasion, as shown by the fact that he broke 49 targets before slipping up on the 50th try. The score was:

A. C. McLoon, 49; C. W. Creighton, 42; "Chick" Spear, 41; J. F. Burgess, 39; C. H. Duff, 38; A. P. Blaisdell, 36; Dr. William Sharpe, 35; R. L. Knowlton, 35; Maurice Sharp, 34; John McLoon, 23; T. J. Foley 17 out of 35.

In the double event the real excitement was the shoot-off between "Chick" Spear and Roy Knowlton, honors going to Mr. Spear.

Maurice Hall of Portland and Friendship won the mif and out sweepstake. Members and guests to the number of 15 were present at the supper, after the shoot. Dr. Sharpe was unanimously voted into honorary membership.

The next shoot will be Thursday, Aug. 7.

EMPIRE THEATRE

"The Girl in the Golden West" with J. Warren Kerrigan and an all star cast. In addition there is the last chapter of "The Fast Express."

For the "real" sensation and so many other thrills that only "seeing is believing," one must see "Judgment of the Storm," Monday and Tuesday.

The whole dramatic climax of this powerful story, written by Mrs. Ethel Styles Middleton, is staged in a terrible blizzard of the sort described. In emphasizing the thrills and realism of the storm, however, one must not overlook the fact that it is only one point of interest in a picture filled with startling contrasts, gripping situations and spectacular effects, superimposed upon the foundation of a powerfully dramatic story—adv.

MUSIC AND MUSICIANS

What Our Home Artists and Others Are Doing To Forward the Interests of Musical Art.

For the interest of local organists who may like to know what numbers are being played by the artists giving the organ concerts in Portland, I have taken down the names of several selections:

Concert Overture in G, Ralph Kinder Madrigal in E flat, Gullmunt Canon in B minor, Schumann Prelude and Fugue in D major, Bach Larghetto, Wesley Scherzetto, Viere Andantino Expressivo from Suite in D, Arthur Foote in D, Prelude and Fugue in A minor, Bach Nocturne, Ferrata Scherzo, Widor Intermezzo from "Storm King" Symphony, Dickenson Divertissement, Stoughton By the Pool of Pirene, Fantasia Symphonique, Rosseter Cole

A story John Philip Sousa tells about his small daughter, Priscilla. Mrs. Sousa had brought the children up with a strict observance of the Sabbath. One Sunday afternoon little Priscilla ran breathlessly to her father and said:

"Father, isn't it a sin to jump rope on Sunday?"

"It is generally classed as such," said Mr. Sousa.

"I know it is," said Priscilla. "Birdie Wilson says it isn't a sin, but I say it is," continued the daughter.

"Your mother thinks it is," said the famous bandmaster.

"I know it is," asserted Priscilla. "It's funny, isn't it—Birdie is eight and I am only five, but I know more about sin than she does."

I have followed the reviews of Dusolina Glanville since she burst upon the horizon as a famous personage—you remember she substituted on exceedingly short notice for Anna Case at the Schola Cantorum concert in New York last year, being an obscure student at the time and next morning was famous. Mephisto's column in Musical America tells us that "Dusolina is one of those unusual beings who has everything even to an ornamental name. I had the honor to be present when she burst upon New York at the Schola Cantorum concert last year, and I recognized the divine fire at once. She is a real thing, a belle is all I know about, but, member, please, that I was born in Arcadia, too, and that I have not forgotten what the Heavenly Spark is like."

A more modest, unassuming, unassuming person I have never met, and I can tell you it was refreshing. Most of the prima-donnas with whom I have commerce weary me so by their monotonous reiteration of how great they are and how little the others are, that it is refreshing as a breath of cool air to meet some one who regards her ability objectively. "Why," said Dusolina at this meeting, "I simply can't realize that it is I about whom the critics are writing so many wonderful things."

I wondered after a year's adulation and continued success whether this charming attitude would still exist. Be it said that it does, and Dusolina not only sings ever so much better than she did a year ago, but is still the same modest, unassuming person. London hailed her as "the second Patti," but I believe she is something better. Adeline never had any heart and she lived (and loved) for Adeline alone, and no one else. Dusolina not only has voice, but she has heart and brains and spiritual qualities that the fair Adeline lacked, and never took the trouble to acquire."

I understand that Miss Glanville is to make records for the Victor people and I am looking forward to hearing her voice. Mr. Chapman will doubtless be securing this remarkable young singer for the Festival.

I have received a circular setting forth the rules and terms of an orchestral composition contest to be given by the North Shore Festival Association. The prize is $1,000 and the contest is open to only those of American birth or naturalized American citizens. The winner will have his or her composition played by the Chicago Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Frederick Stock at the regular concerts during the season of 1925-26. Anyone interested can secure further information by communicating with the Business Manager, 64 East Van Buren street, Chicago.

For those who admire the modern music of the frenzied type: Mother, calling to daughter in the music room: "Please, dear, stop practicing that 'Stravinsky' piece, it is so noisy!" Daughter: "But, mother, I'm not near the piano. It's nurse punishing the baby."

Roland Hayes, the Negro tenor, made a sensation in Berlin during the recent season. Not only the artistry of his voice and his method of using it, but the perfection of his German diction, aroused the public. He sang the lieder of Schubert, Schumann, Brahms and Wolf, by-words in Berlin, yet he seemed to give them a new meaning. By-the-way, what talking machine company is going to secure Roland Hayes, and when are we going to hear his records?

Frequently I am asked regarding song books, etc., for young children. Usually I refer inquirers to Mrs. Coppin, or C. W. Grafton of Cressy & Allen, Portland, either of whom is always glad to supply information that is of value. I notice in a review of the new music a duet book for young beginners, gotten out by Angela Diller, called "The Brown Duet Book." It contains thirty folk-songs from nine different European countries, with English melodies predominating. Miss Diller has arranged them skillfully and Kate Stearns Page has supplied the texts, with either the originals or well-made translations. Miss Diller previously got out a duet book on the same lines called "The Green Duet Book." Her idea of using folk-tunes for piano pieces in the early grades is to be highly commended. Some of our local piano teachers may wish to avail themselves of these volumes. G. Schirmer is the publisher.

It has been a great pleasure to hear the fine voice of Mrs. Ogarita Rose Rugg, who has been singing at the Congregational Church for the past three Sundays, and it is a regret that this pleasure cannot be continued throughout the summer season. I was unable to get the names of the solo Mrs. Rugg sang the first two Sundays. Last Sunday, with Harold Greene, tenor, she sang the duet "On Life's Highway," by Bertrand Brown, in a highly creditable manner. I am among those who regret that Rockland had to lose Mrs. Rugg (I still think of her as Ogarita Rose) as a permanent resident, for she would have been a most valuable asset to our musical circles. She is gifted with a splendid dramatic soprano voice, which she uses in an exceptionally intelligent manner and it is combined with a charming personality. I learn that Mrs. Rugg is singing in a Christian Science Church in Flushing, Long Island, where her home is, and will resume this position at once, having concluded a summer visit to her Rockland home, where she is always warmly greeted by old friends.

STRAND THEATRE

Jack Hoxie is here today, starring in "The Desert Rider." From the opening scenes to the final "fade-out" in this thrilling, smashing, fast-moving drama of the West there is never a let-up in the headlong pace. The story is gripping, tense and interesting throughout and carried by a cast chosen for their adaptability to the parts they portray.

And all next week the big Old Home Week crowds will be entertained by "The Marigold Girls." This show consists of 10 big acts of vaudeville. Dookeys and monkeys figure in these acts, and you will surely marvel at their intelligence.

Another distinct feature of the Old Home Week is that the picture "Under the Red Tole," which will be shown Monday and Tuesday, with such stars in the cast as Robert B. Mantell, John Charles Thomas and Alma Rubens.

The action centers around Cardinal Richelieu, but is developed in a wealth of incident and detail that would stagger the luxurious imagination of Bulwer-Lytton. Even Robert Mantell fails under the magic and gives to the screen a deeper and more human Richelieu than he ever gave to the stage. It takes a tremendous degree of power to dominate the vast scenes as he does, where thousands of men and women in gorgeous raiment are gathered together. But it takes even greater power to show the great tragedy and loneliness of the Cardinal, stripped of his power and wandering forlornly through the empty halls of his great palace. Mr. Mantell is to be congratulated on holding high the banners of his art and not letting them be trampled down by the sheer magnificence of the spectacle.

All the joyous beauty of spring and summer are in scintillant leaves and glowing flowers that are the background of the action. Even the sunshine takes on a dramatic quality in the handling of these outdoor scenes. All this is but a sort of accompaniment to the love of Gil de Berault and Renee de Cochefort. John Charles Thomas as Gil de Berault satisfied the most exacting demands for the ideal hero and lover. Alma Rubens, as Renee, has fine opportunities to exercise her undoubted gift for emotional acting. Sydney Herbert, William H. Powell, Ian MacLaren, Rose Coghlan, Otto Kruger and Gustav von Seyffertitz do some splendid acting.

Jewels, velvets and satins, chateaux, palaces and hovels loveliness plotting and victories create an illusion of other times and satisfy the incurable craving for romance that every theatre-goer has. It is a picture that can become a classic, because it fills a real human need—the need for glamour—adv.

IMPROVEMENTS AT COLBY

Improvements and repairs amounting to more than $15,000 are being made on the buildings on the Colby College campus this summer. Supt. Weymouth is in charge of the work and more than 20 electricians, painters, carpenters and masons are working under him. The most extensive alterations are being made on the Colby chapel which is in Memorial Hall. The platform in front is being enlarged in order to seat the entire faculty. The pews are being set closer together to make greater seating capacity and each pew is being scraped and revarnished.

EPISCOPALIANS LEAD

Have Furnished One More President Than the Presbyterians.

Should John W. Davis be elected he would be the eighth Presbyterian President of the United States, and this would bring the number of such Presidents even with the number who have been communicants of the Protestant Episcopal church, the latter at present holding the palm with eight presidents.

Mrs. Davis is a communicant of the Protestant Episcopal church and Davis attends Sunday morning services with her in the Church of St. James, Lexington.

Charles G. Davis, Republican candidate for Vice President, attends the First Congregational church in Evansville, Ind., of which the Rev. Dr. Hugh Elmer Brown is pastor. Mrs. Davis is a member of this church.

President Coolidge united with the First Congregational church in Washington last October. He is the first Congregational President.

Warren G. Harding was the first Baptist President. Besides Grover Cleveland, the Presbyterian presidents were: Jackson, Polk, Buchanan, Lincoln, Benjamin Harrison and Wilson. Abraham Lincoln did not unite with the church, but during the years he was in Washington he was regularly attending at the New York Avenue Presbyterian church.

The Episcopal presidents were Washington, Madison, Monroe, William Henry Harrison, Tyler, Taylor, Pierce and Arthur.

Presidents who were John Adams, John Quincy Adams, Fillmore and Taft.

The Methodist presidents were Johnson, Grant, Hayes and McKinley.

Van Buren and Roosevelt were members of the Dutch Reformed church. Garfield was a member of the Church of the Disciples of Christ. Jefferson was a liberal.

WARREN

Mrs. Inez Libby was the guest of Charles Libby at South Warren Sunday.

Mrs. Helen Knowlton is employed as assistant at the Security Trust Co., in place of Avis Newman.

Hazel Kemistown who makes her home in Providence, R. I., is spending the summer vacation among relatives in town.

Mrs. and Mrs. Samuel Fuller who have been guests of Mr. Fuller's sister, Mrs. J. F. Bolster in Norway, Me., returned home Tuesday. Mrs. Bolster who brought them home in her car, left after a short stay on the return trip.

Mr. Edith Nigh Hodgkins who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Cook the past two weeks, went Thursday to Thomaston where she will visit relatives.

Mrs. G. W. Walker who is spending the summer at her cottage at Martin's Point, was in town Thursday.

The Warren Regulars against the Robinsons with a score of 8-6 at the Wednesday night game produced a lot of fun for both spectators and participants.

Miss Margaret Conley and Ray Thomas of Malden, Mass., are guests of the latter's uncle, Maynard Creamer, South Warren Road.

Newell Robinson is having an enforced vacation due to an affection of his right eye from which it is hoped he will make speedy recovery.

Mrs. Chloe Mills of Hope is the guest of Mrs. H. M. Robinson.

J. C. Munsey is employed as clerk at the Atlantic & Pacific store. It will seem like an old story to Warren patrons to meet with Mr. Munsey's pleasant smile and unfeigned courtesy.

Mrs. Lucy Nesbit of Waldoboro is visiting relatives in town.

Mrs. Henry Trone and son Charles were in Rockland Thursday.

Mr. Howard and family of Medford, Mass., who bought the George Young place on the East Warren road have arrived with their furniture.

A. H. Rust and crew of Bucksport are engaged in repacking and shipping the season's catch of alewives.

Maynard Creamer and William Dobbin, carpenter, are making repairs on the buildings owned by Mrs. Nancy Eastman.

The G. A. R. hall is receiving a bit of freshening in the shape of a new coat of paint by R. Spear's crew.

Ralph Crockett is driving a new Ford touring car recently bought of Warren Garage.

Rev. Mr. Stover of Old Orchard will speak at both morning and evening services at the Baptist church next Sunday.

Mrs. Sidney Wylie, Mrs. M. S. Hahn and Mrs. Robert Packard have been enjoying short vacations from their work at the woolen mill the past week.

Tom Pizzell of Beverly, Mass., and Charles Plunkett of Lewiston have employment with M. Shortell & Son, and are boarding with Mrs. B. E. Watts.

SEARSMONT

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond W. Hills of Everett, Mass., and Arzelle Gervais of Boston, have been recent guests of Mrs. Emma Hills.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Sharkey, of Somerville, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Sheridan and daughter, and Miss Mary Campbell of Arlington are guests at Maple Inn for a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Linley Sprowl spent Sunday with their daughter in Sidney.

Ernest Sprowl leaves Thursday for military training at Camp Devens.

Mrs. Ada Warner and little son have returned to Massachusetts after several weeks' visit with Mr. and Mrs. Linley Sprowl.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Belyea have returned to their home in Loda, Ill., after a few weeks' visit with Mrs. Belyea's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eben Cobb.

At camp "Wahnageesha" at Lake Umbagog a new lodge is being built and one more large camp. Electric lights will be installed another summer and many more improvements. F. A. Dunton and D. B. Craig are doing the carpentering there.

AMERICAN LEGION

Luther Burbank, the plant wizard, who has been deeply interested in the Victory Highway plan of The American Legion, will furnish elm trees for the Highway of a new species he has originated and which are especially fitted by their hardiness and methods of growth for the office of bordering roads. The Victory Highway plan of the Legion and other organizations sponsoring the plan is to line a highway from coast to coast with elm trees commemorating the services of the men and women who served in the World War. American Legion Posts throughout the country are co-operating with the plan under their own initiative. Kansas City, Kansas, posts of the Legion having recently planted trees along the Victory Highway through Wyandotte county.

The America Legion at the next session of the Congress will ask for an extension of the time limit of June 30, 1926, set by the recently passed Reed-Johnson Bill as marking the end of the period allowed for disabled veterans of the World War to apply for vocational training courses with the U. S. Veterans' Bureau. The Legion will make the application on the ground that it is unfair to deprive of their chance for vocational rehabilitation the several thousands of disabled veterans within and without the hospitals whose physical condition has not up to this time permitted their entrance into training. There are in training at this time under the Veterans' Bureau some 50,000 veterans of the World War who are being rehabilitated at the rate of three thousand per month.

Delegates from the various parts of Pennsylvania to the National Convention of The American Legion at St. Paul, Sept. 15 to 19 have been pledged to do their utmost to bring the convention to Philadelphia in 1926 as a feature of the Sesqui-centennial celebration.

Upon the advice of the American Legion, Gov. E. Lee Trinkle, recently issued a proclamation calling upon all employers of Virginia to secure employment for the more than 100,000 Virginians who were disabled in the World War and who are now rehabilitated and ready for jobs.

Muskogee, Okla., July.—The largest soldier's memorial hospital west of the Mississippi river will be built in Muskogee, Okla., at a cost of more than two millions of dollars if plans outlined by Colonel Hugh Scott, commander of The American Legion post here materialize. The American Legion will ask Oklahoma representatives in Congress when it reconvenes to sponsor a bill which would provide an appropriation sufficient to carry out the plan. Should the appropriation be made, patients from all states in the Southwest would be concentrated here and the best skill and equipment in the medical world be provided.

A brigade of mail carriers one morning recently dropped their sacks at 314 W. Monroe street, Chicago, containing 10,000 birthday postal cards addressed to "Gen. James A. Stuart." Gen. Stuart was enjoying his 82nd birthday on that particular morning. Other generals have had 82 birthdays, true, but General Stuart is the only man in the country who commanded a regiment in three major wars, and as a consequence, he has many "comrades," who think a lot of the General, and who remember him with a card on his birthday.

Ten miles of special parking track is being laid in Saint Paul to accommodate the extra railroad equipment that will come to Saint Paul for the American Legion Convention Sept. 15 to 19. Every available pullman car in the nation has already been reserved for this annual gathering at

Just Like City Water Service

No matter where you live, you can now have running water under pressure in your home.

Modern plumbing, including bathroom with hot and cold water, lavatory, shower, toilet, and faucets in many convenient places—think what this means to the suburban or farm home.

With the present standards of living these conveniences are a necessity. They make for comfort, health, sanitation and labor-saving. They were formerly to be had only in the city, but now, will give you all the advantages of city water service. Duro Systems are built in many sizes and styles. They meet the needs of a bungalow or a country club. They are driven either by electric motor or gasoline engine.

DURO Water Systems

A Duro system is worth all it costs for fire protection alone. It is easily installed in old or new homes—taking water from deep or shallow well, cistern or spring.

Ask us to point out the many reasons why Duro costs less but is worth more than any other water system you can buy.
